

A.B.GIBSON

With over four decades in the advertising business, Alan has written and produced television, radio, print and digital commercials and built his reputation as one of the most creative players in entertainment advertising. He took to novel writing in 2015 and published three best-selling mystery/thrillers, under the pen name of A.B. Gibson, and has recently released his first romance novel. Alan's first book, The Dead of Winter, is the inspiration for The Seeding, a feature film he is producing with Ken Atchity Productions. He serves as Co-founder and Chairman of OneClick.chat, a video social engagement platform startup that often competes for time with his writing.
